Well-Being Indicator

Happiness satisfied with life; content

In the EQ-i 2.0 model, Happiness is different than the other EI abilities in that it both contributes to, and is a product of, EI. As such, your client's result in Happiness can be used as a barometer of emotional health and well-being.

Although the causes and factors related to an individual's happiness extend beyond the scope of this assessment, it is important to examine your client's Happiness result in relation to the other EI subscales. For example, would strengthening lower subscales lead to improved Happiness? Or will increased Happiness stem from working within the client's strengths and talents? In either case, the best way forward is as unique to each person as his or her own definition of Happiness.

The four subscales most often associated with Happiness are:

- Self-Regard
- Optimism
- Self-Actualization
- Interpersonal Relationships

Happiness

The result in Happiness suggests that your client feels satisfied with life, and generally enjoys the company of others and work responsibilities. Your client may:

- ☒ have fun at both work and play.
- ☒ be seen by coworkers as likeable and pleasant to be around.
- ☒ have to occasionally manage your discontentment with certain aspects of life.

Of the subscales most typically tied to Happiness, your client scored lower in Self-Regard. Directing development efforts here could strengthen Happiness even further.

Self-Regard

Happiness is a by-product of believing in oneself and living according to your own values. Low self-regard may lead your client to question personal values, performance and decisions, ultimately lowering happiness. You might ask:

- ☒ Reflect on past accomplishments by identifying skills that enabled you to be successful.
- ☒ What do you admire most about yourself? Why? What do you like the least?

Optimism

In the face of setback and disappointment, the ability to recover and claim a happy state is contingent on one's level of optimism. The results suggest that your client is optimistic and hopeful most of the time, but perhaps could use this outlook more frequently so that Happiness becomes even more personal, permanent and justifiable. You might ask:

- ☒ When are you the least optimistic? How could your outlook in these situations be improved?
- ☒ When faced with a new challenge, how do you typically feel? List your emotions and identify why you feel this way.

Interpersonal Relationships

The Interpersonal Relationships result indicates that your client has well-developed relationships that likely help reduce the negative effects of life's daily demands. If maintained, these relationships can enhance and sustain pervasive feelings of happiness. You might ask:

- ☒ Are there times when you struggle with your relationships? If so, what causes the struggles and how do you remedy conflict and miscommunication?
- ☒ Do you have a mentor? Do you act as a mentor to someone else?

Self-Actualization

Happiness comes from a willingness to learn and grow on a journey aligned with personal values. The result suggests your client has a good level of self-actualization, but further development in this area will help to promote feelings of achievement and overall happiness. You might ask:

- ☒ Identify what you value most in life. Are you spending enough time on the activities most important to you?
- ☒ What legacy will you leave behind?

Balancing EI

This section shows three related subscales for each of the fifteen subscales on the EQ-i 2.0. Below, you will find examples of feedback that you can provide to the respondent.

- Where a greater than (>) or less than (<) sign is shown, the subscale scores are significantly different and further investigation into these imbalances is recommended.
- When an equal sign (=) is shown, the subscale scores are not significantly different from one another and therefore are well balanced. In order to maintain this balance, you may want to guide the respondent to watch for significant growth in one subscale over the other and consider ways that he/she can develop the subscales in tandem.

Please note that if you included this section in the respondent's report, the respondent will see only one subscale (the relationship with the greatest score discrepancy). All three relationships are shown here so that you may debrief the respondent on other areas that are out of balance. In addition to what is displayed in this report, you may want to explore other balances and imbalances in the respondent's profile that may lead to further EI development.

Action Plan

The steps your client takes towards achieving his/her EI goals will determine whether or not success is realized. Use this step-by-step activity plan to help guide your client towards accomplishing personal objectives. Remember to use the SMART goal setting criteria for each goal.

SPECIFIC
TIMELY

Write down up to three EI skills or behaviors that require further development (e.g., “reflective listening” to build empathy, or “recognizing how my body reacts to stress” to raise emotional self-awareness). The SMART goals should then help to strengthen these EI skills and behaviors.

- 2.
- 3.

Write down up to three overall qualities that your client would like to have (e.g., integrity, providing clear leadership, team player, clear communicator). In some way the SMART goals he/she outlines in this action plan should help to achieve these qualities.

- 2.
- 3.

Transfer your client's SMART goals into the action plan template below.

SMART Goal	Time Frame	Benefits	Measure of Success	Support and Resources Needed	Potential Barriers
Listen to others	In team meetings Starting from today	Other people will listen to me I will get to hear everyone's views	Feedback from the team to say that I am listening to them more Take actions that other people have suggested	From the team to give me honest feedback	Time – often do not have time to listen to views but just need to give instructions. EI Development Commitment

A Development Commitment is a tool to help hold your client accountable for accomplishing the goals outlined in his/her action plan. As we all too often know, our plans for personal growth and development often fall by the wayside when we get back to work and our organization's demands win the competition for time and attention. By outlining your client's objectives here, and ensuring that your client does the same in his or her report, you help your client to be more accountable to reaching their professional objectives.

My Client's Development Goals

My client's action plan includes the following goals:

Preparing for the Debrief

Review the Report

- Review the Response Style Explained page and look into any flagged areas.
- Review the Total EI score and composite scores. Where does the client fall in relation to the general population?
- Review the individual subscales and patterns. Which particular combinations of subscales are striking to you? Which do you want to investigate at the item level?
- Review item scores for any particularly high or low scores.
- Examine the Balancing EI page. What stands out in this client's results? Which subscales do you need to look at more closely? What might be some challenges associated with the results?
- Make notes on areas you are curious about.
- What is your overall impression? What will you want to keep in mind as you go through the debrief?

Conducting the Debrief

Phase	Points to Keep in Mind	Questions to Ask
1. Build Rapport The first step is to create a sense of ease and establish common goals between you and your client.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Explain how the feedback will be structured and how long it will take. <input type="checkbox"/> Ask what the client wants to get out of the session. <input type="checkbox"/> Remind the client of the confidentiality agreement and who "owns the data". <input type="checkbox"/> If appropriate, show the client a sample report so that they are prepared for what they will be seeing in their own report. This may help them understand what the results will indicate before they actually see them. <input type="checkbox"/> Remind the client that this is a self-report and that it is a "snapshot in time". It is a starting point for discussion, not the end of the investigation. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> How are you feeling about this meeting? <input type="checkbox"/> What was your experience in taking the assessment? Probing questions: were you alone, did you do it at the beginning of the day, end of the day; do you recall any items that you had difficulty with or that were not clear to you? <input type="checkbox"/> Is there anything significant going on in your life that may have affected how you responded to the items? <input type="checkbox"/> How did you find the items themselves? Anything you found odd or curious? <input type="checkbox"/> Do you have any questions or comments before we go over your profile?
2. Validate Facts Next, establish the "truth" of EQ-i results in the eyes of your client.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Give definition of EI and recap details of the EQ-i 2.0. <input type="checkbox"/> As you can see, the bars represent how you responded to the items on each scale of the EQ-i 2.0. <input type="checkbox"/> The bars that are in the middle range show that compared to the general population, you answered the items in a similar way. <input type="checkbox"/> Bars to the left indicate decreased use of behaviors related to the scale. <input type="checkbox"/> Bars to the right indicate increased use of behaviors related to the scale. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> What is your first impression of this profile? <input type="checkbox"/> Does this profile look accurate to you? <input type="checkbox"/> What surprises you? <input type="checkbox"/> Where would you like to focus first? <input type="checkbox"/> What questions do you have about your results? <input type="checkbox"/> Can you give me an example of how you use that skill? <input type="checkbox"/> Would you say this is a real strength of yours? <input type="checkbox"/> This suggests to me that _____. Is that true of you?

Phase	Points to Keep in Mind	Questions to Ask
3. Discovery In the third step, the goal is to acquire a full understanding of any challenges that may be present. As a coach, you want to probe for details to clarify your client's thoughts, feelings, opinions, and expectations.	Use the Follow-Up Questions pages to get a better understanding of how your client demonstrates the skills related to specific subscales.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> What areas stand out for you as things you'd like to focus on? <input type="checkbox"/> How satisfied are you with that? <input type="checkbox"/> What concerns do you have with that situation? <input type="checkbox"/> Why do you think that is so? <input type="checkbox"/> What is the message here? <input type="checkbox"/> What gets in your way in this area? <input type="checkbox"/> Why is that so frustrating? <input type="checkbox"/> How do you see that contributing to your success? <input type="checkbox"/> How do you see that holding you back? <input type="checkbox"/> Do these areas interfere with achieving your goals in any way? <input type="checkbox"/> How might a decreased use of these types of behaviors help you in your role?
4. Establish Relevance Next, activate interest in finding a solution and gauge the possibility and desire for change.	Connect the importance of your conversation to your client's work.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> It sounds like it is important for you to ___ on the job. Is that correct? <input type="checkbox"/> How long have you been doing that? <input type="checkbox"/> To what extent is that effective for you? <input type="checkbox"/> How is that behavior working for you?
5. Explore Benefits The goal here is to help your client become aware of the benefits of change by considering the benefits of a particular solution.	Pose hypothetical, job-related situations to help your client imagine a new state of behavior and its outcomes. "If... then" questions help the client project an ideal state of operating effectively.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> What is the ideal situation here? <input type="checkbox"/> If you had a choice, what would you do? <input type="checkbox"/> If you didn't have to deal with ____, how would things be different? <input type="checkbox"/> What kind of support would be helpful? <input type="checkbox"/> If you were going to work on one or two areas, which one(s) would you choose? <input type="checkbox"/> What benefits would you like to achieve by improving in those areas?
6. Transition The last part of the session involves discussing next steps and establishing the client's commitment to continue working with you.	Ask transition questions to remind your client of time limitations to ensure the majority of areas you both want to discuss are addressed. "How" questions help work out the logistics of your future relationship. If appropriate, complete the Development Action Plan together with your client.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> It sounds like this is an area you'd like to work on. What are some ways that you might be able to further develop in this area? <input type="checkbox"/> What is one thing you can do to further develop this skill? Questions to help close the conversation: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> How would you like to move forward? <input type="checkbox"/> How committed are you to your development plan? <input type="checkbox"/> If you're not completely committed, what do you need to do to get there? OR What do you need to change in your development plan in order to be fully committed? <input type="checkbox"/> How will you remain accountable for developing in this area? <input type="checkbox"/> I propose that we ____. Does that sound good to you? <input type="checkbox"/> What outstanding questions do you have?
